1. The Incheon People's Committee headquarters is in Incheon City Hall. The committee chairman is HA Sang-hun; vice-chairman is YU Kyong-won. The People's Court has been set up in the procurator's office. The Incheon Daily News has changed its name to The Farmers' Daily News. All factory officials have been removed, and the factories are now operated by plant committees. The official price of rice in occupied South Korea is 750 won, but the Incheon blackmarket rate is 14,000 won. Very little rice was available on 13 July.
2. The propaganda approach used by the North Koreans to recruit South Korean men for their army is that the People's Army is much better than the U.S. Army as proven by recent victories. The People's Army is the greatest night fighting army in the world.
3. The People's Committee and North Korean troops in Seoul regularly search houses to insure that photographs of KIM Il-sung and Stalin are prominently displayed. The Chinese in Seoul, most of whom are playing along with the Communists, are permitted to display picture of MAO instead of KIM.
4. There was a rumor among Seoul refugees on about 20 July that the USSR has moved six divisions of Soviet troops into Manchuria, in addition to those normally in that area.
